Client-Side Innovation™

We step up to the possibilities.

Through Client-Side Innovation™ we develop creative new applications for our materials that make our customers' products stand out. Harnessing our proactive curiosity and extensive knowledge of the industry, we deliver a step up in product performance that helps our customers realize their full potential.

The World's Leading Companies
Seek Out CHIMEI To:

Boost Product Performance

With our new synthetic rubber, golf balls achieved a new peak in performance.

Increase Product Durability

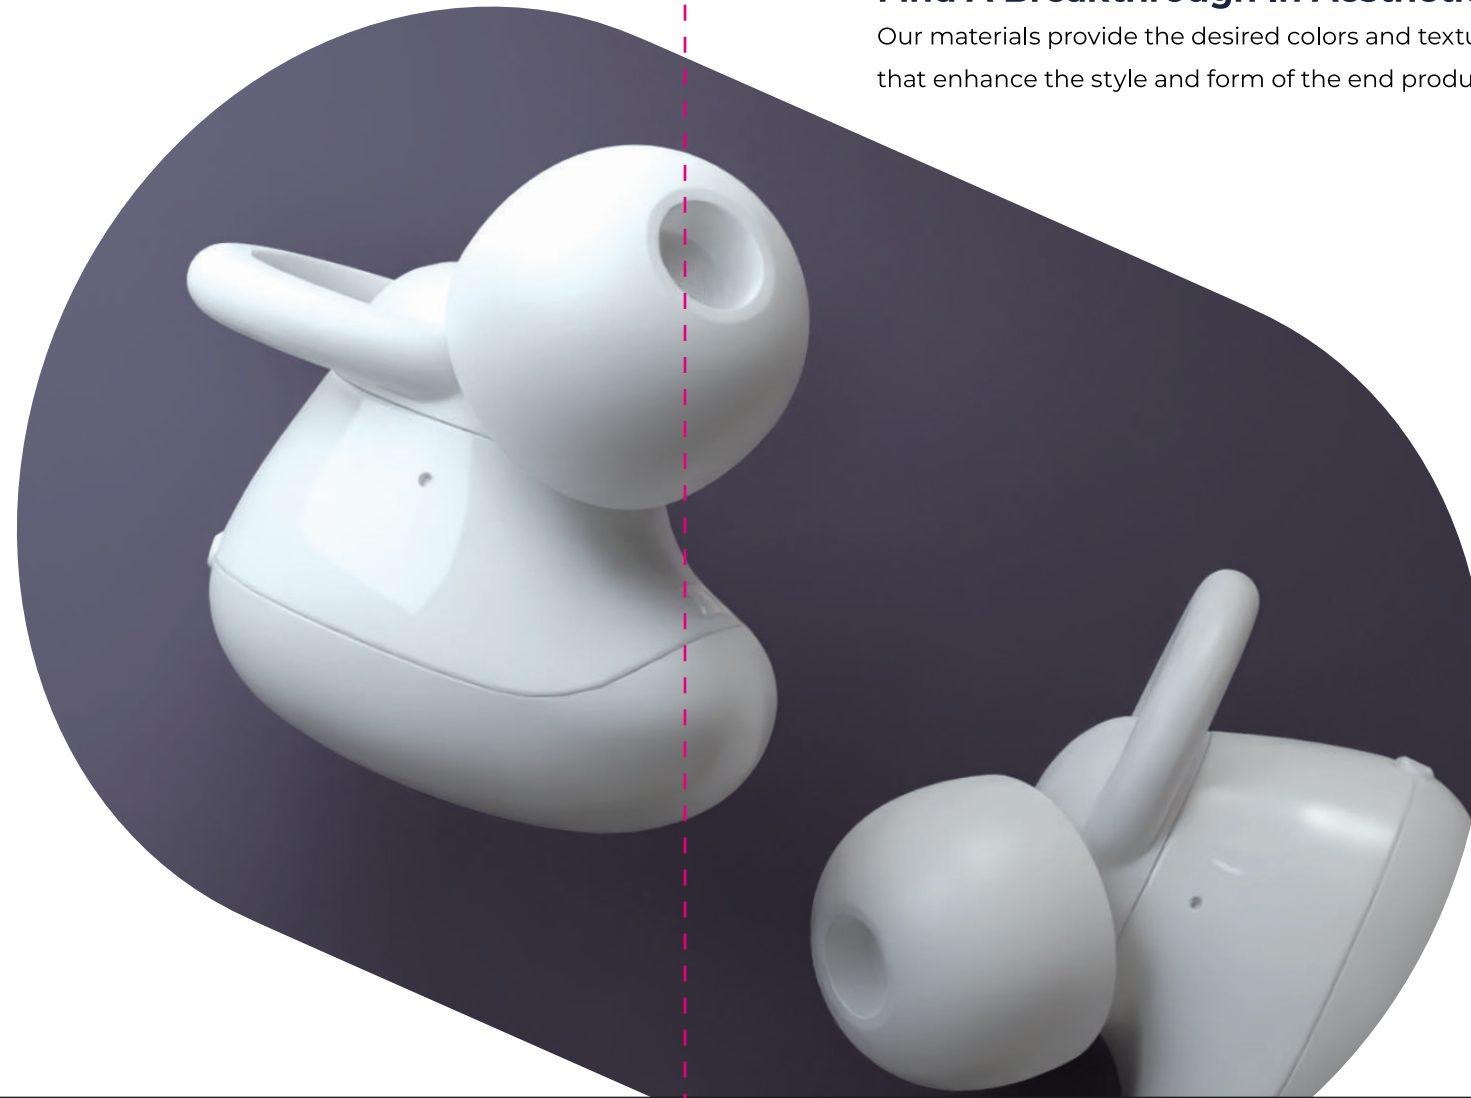

Devices last longer without degrading, thanks to our advanced polymers that can withstand tough weather and environments.

Raise Production Efficiency

Our materials are compatible with all kinds of manufacturing equipment and facilities, and even help improve production processes and yields.

Find A Breakthrough In Aesthetics

Our materials provide the desired colors and textures that enhance the style and form of the end product.

Reduce Environmental Impact

Products can be manufactured in the desired color directly when using our materials, without post-production spraying, saving time, cost, and potential harm to the environment.

Clean & Green

We step up to our environmental responsibilities.

When it comes to environmental protection and eco-friendly production processes, we have long been ahead of the curve.

We also rigorously maintain the latest ISO certifications relating to energy, greenhouse gases, and environmental management across all our facilities.

Setting ourselves high standards, we invest heavily in clean and green processes to limit our waste and emissions to radically low levels.

And yet, we aim still higher, to reduce our environmental impact further. We are on track to achieve the following goals:

80%

Reclaimed water usage in our production processes

80%

Energy self-sufficiency from solar power and natural gas

98%

Sludge waste reduction

36%

Reduction in greenhouse gas emissions

Social Benefactor

We step up to our social responsibilities.

At CHIMEI, we are active in i) the arts, music and culture, ii) the environment, ecology, technology, and iii) healthcare and social care; with activities and initiatives covering education, preservation, promotion, protection, and contribution.

CHIMEI Culture Foundation

Founded in 1977, the foundation is responsible for managing the collection and curation of the CHIMEI Museum, as well as cultivating artistic and musical talents through its CHIMEI Art Award.

CHIMEI Museum

Born out of CHIMEI founder Mr. Shi Wen-Long's dream to introduce local people to diverse cultural artifacts from around the globe, this private collection is one of the most splendid and rich in the world.

CHIMEI Hospitals

Non-profit hospitals that serve local communities with comprehensive, high-quality medical care and healthcare services.

Taiwan Artificial Intelligence Academy

CHIMEI sponsors the academy with the goal to help industries in Taiwan to gain a competitive edge in the AI revolution and open opportunities for industrial development.

幸福 Xingfu :

Well-Being
Through Contribution

The purpose of hard work is to pursue Xingfu, and it is by pursuing Xingfu first that we achieve success.

Our foundational principle of Xingfu refers to achieving a deep sense of well-being by contributing to wider society. Since day one, we have been focusing all our efforts on the greater good, by supporting our employees, customers, and communities, and by protecting the environment.

Let's step up to create lasting well-being for ourselves, the people around us, and even the whole world.
